Since joining Computershare in 1996, Bruce has been responsible for the management of Computershare's two Non Broker participants and well as the daily trading and settlement operations of Computershare. He was part of the Summit broker back office system development team and was involved in the implantation of the system and the set up of E*TRADE Australia.

As part of the Global Capital Markets Group he leads the dedicated Global Transactions Units that are responsible for all of Computershare's cross border transactions. The development of a web based service, xSettle™, leverages Computershare's global presence and our cross border expertise provides an unparalleled service to issuers and market participants.

Prior to joining Computershare, Bruce spent 17 years in the broking industry covering settlement administration, corporate actions, custody and operational management, including stints in London and New York.

With a total of 30 years in the securities industry, Bruce is based at Computershare's head office in Melbourne, Australia.
