Jeff is primarily involved in the strategic development of Computershare's global register platform, including promoting its benefits to major UK and EU based global corporations. Jeff serves as a director of NRC, Computershare's Russian business and is active in promoting Computershare's interests in that market. In addition, he promotes international linkages between the developing capital markets and the international markets of London and New York. Recent transaction involvement includes the Rio Tinto acquisition of Alcan Corporation in Canada and the Royal Bank of Scotland led consortium's acquisition of ABN Amro in the Netherlands.

Jeff is a long-time senior manager at Computershare, with previous responsibilities ranging from business development of specialised products to managing the innovation team, including establishing the Asset Reunification service and the deployment of the Computershare Depositary Interest instrument. Jeff has also project managed major M&A corporate actions such as the acquisition of Woolwich by Barclays which, given the size of the Woolwich register (over a million holders), was a very significant corporate transaction in the UK market.

Jeff is a Chartered Accountant (FCA) and was a committee member of the ICSA Registrars Group from 1998 to 2001. He is also a Fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.
