As manager of the Depository Interest (DI) product, Steve is responsible for DI business development and managing the existing DI client base. As is a subject expert in DIs he is frequently called upon to deliver presentations to the intermediary market.

In his role as project manager for Computershare's Global Capital Markets group, Steve is involved in developing solutions regarding global cross border settlement. He also assists with global corporate actions, where recent deals include the Rio Tinto takeover of Alcan Inc. and the corporate restructuring of a South African issuer.

Prior to setting up the DI team, Steve spent six years in the operational, client services and product development areas of the registry business.
